

Thursday, February 23, 2012

In this issue:

- Ask your media relations questions on the Volunteer Canada Facebook page today
 - NVW campaign kits arriving by mail soon
-

Ask your media relations questions on the Volunteer Canada Facebook page today

To complement the National Volunteer Week video seminar series, Volunteer Canada is featuring a weekly Facebook Q & A session. On the Thursday following the release of each skill-building seminar, the presenter will be available to field questions and comments on the Volunteer Canada Facebook page.

Today from 3-6 p.m. EST, Karen Lynch, Executive Director of Volunteer Alberta, and Lee Rose, Editor of Charity Village, will host the conversation on media relations. Visit the Volunteer Canada Facebook page anytime during those three hours to join the conversation.

Click here to watch the skill-building video seminar on media relations, presented by Karen Lynch and Lee Rose.

NVW campaign kits arriving by mail soon

Volunteer Canada members can keep an eye out for their NVW campaign kits – kits will begin arriving by mail in the coming weeks. The campaign kits include NVW promotional materials, such as posters and postcards, as well as special information on the NVW gift store.

Click here for more information on becoming a member of Volunteer Canada.