

Monday, March 5, 2012

In this issue:

- Final National Volunteer Week video seminar released
-

Final National Volunteer Week video seminar released

Volunteer Canada today released the final video in a four-part seminar series designed to assist volunteer centres and voluntary organizations in planning their National Volunteer Week campaigns. Visit the Video Seminar page on the NVW website to view the video. This week's seminar focuses on event planning, set within the context of volunteer recognition.

The seminar is led by Dave Kranenburg, Executive Director, Meal Exchange. The skill-building video covers the following topics:

- Volunteer Recognition
- Embedding Social Media
- Event Coordination101
 - Plan
 - Prepare
 - Promote
 - Execute
- The Follow Through
- Tips & Tricks

To complement each video seminar, skill-building "tools" are posted on the NVW website. These tools are meant to further support organizations in their vital work recognizing Canada's volunteers.

This Thursday, March 8, the final two presenters will host a Q & A session on the Volunteer Canada Facebook page. Ilona Dougherty, the host of last week's seminar, will answer your social media questions from 9am-12pm EST. Dave Kranenburg will field questions and comments related to event planning in the afternoon, from 3-6pm EST.